MARKET OUTLOOK

Bank Negara held interest rates steady at its Sept MPC meeting, with the benchmark Overnight Policy Rate (OPR) unchanged at a record low of 1.75% (YTD: -125bps). OPR is expected to remain at this level until end-2021, though noting this is a "dovish pause", with policy rates tilted to easing rather than tightening (Suhaimi, MKE Chief Economist).

While monetary conditions have eased considerably, we believe there is still room for further OPR cuts, especially as August's continuing deflationary CPI read shows sixth consecutive month of deflation means real interest rates remains elevated, at just over 3% (Pathmakanthan, 2020).

Post economic stimulus packages of RM295bn (PRIHATIN and PENJANA, of which RM45bn or c.3% of GDP is direct fiscal injection), it is announced that an additional RM10bn fiscal stimulus is to be spent in Malaysia 6Rs Recovery phase. Through the additional fiscal injection, primarily in the form of cash handouts and wage subsidies, the budget deficit to GDP forecasts for 2020 and 2021 has been revised to -6.7% and -6.0%, from -6.5% and -5.9% previously (Pathmakanthan, 2020).

On the other hand, the continuing political instability in Malaysia has negative implications for policy making (continued delays), economic reforms (especially re the GLC sector, where a new round of disruptive leadership changes are taking place) and the overall investment climate, especially long-declining domestic direct investment. With politicians distracted by the jockeying for power, there is little hope for policy momentum that may help support the economic recovery via incentivising or jumpstarting stalled infrastructure projects (Pathmakanthan, 2020).

Further, the dividend thematic for the equity market will remain an increasingly powerful one, especially as the earning growth (i.e. capital gains) outlook remains highly uncertain. Average KLCI forward dividend yield now significantly exceeds the benchmark 10-year MGS yield and is indicative of the relative attractiveness (undervaluation) of equity market high dividend stocks vis-à-vis alternatives of bonds and cash (Pathmakanthan, 2020).
